

WILD WEST SHOW ENDS EXHIBITION

Yesterday's performance of Irwin and Hired's Frontier Days Wild West show, was fully up to the high standard set by this aggregation on its first day's performance. The programme was slightly changed, but the main features of the card were as the previous day, and was witnessed by about 5,000 people.

This show is the best of its kind that has ever shown in Ogden, and leaves the city with the best wishes of every one that witnessed either performance.

Some of the features that brought the most applause yesterday were, the Indian war dance, with the half hundred Sioux braves, in full war paint, going through their time honored ceremonial; the superb riding of Mrs. St. Clair, the champion lady rough rider of the world, and the marvelous roping stunts and bronco busting feats of the cow boys.

IMPROVEMENTS IN THIS CITY

Since the first day of this year Ogden's growth has been constant and substantial, there having been no time that many buildings have not been either in course of construction or in contemplation. This building, too, has not been confined to any particular part of the city; it has been prosecuted in all directions.

The residence part of the building operations has been extensive, and modern houses have been erected, it requiring only a trip through the city to convince one of these facts. From three to five roomed cottages are among the most numerous that have been built during the season, the five room house predominating largely. Many extensions in sidewalk building have been prosecuted and the new buildings, in almost every instance, are surrounded by splendidly constructed concrete walks. Sewer connections have been made in most of the new houses and plans have been made for sewer connections for old residences that have heretofore been without that modern convenience.

Business houses that have been erected and that are in course of construction, mark a substantial increase of the business district, and the business centers of Ogden have, by virtue of the erection of new business blocks, assumed a more metropolitan air than in the past, and business activity has been considerably augmented. Withal, the building activity of the summer has elicited favorable comment from visitors from all sections of the country, it being common for traveling men to say that Ogden has maintained a more substantial and promising growth during the year than any other of the intermountain cities. The boom has been an unknown thing here this year, and for a number of years past, which has had a tendency to mark the progress of the city with the stamp of stability and longevity. The building of the city has been commensurate with the growth of the city, based upon natural facilities and commercial demands.

Something over $40,000 have been spent this year in the remodeling of the Reed hotel, and the repair work is not yet ended. The Reed now has the appearance of a modern hotel, and the adequacy of the place demanded by the traveling men, has been enlarged to the point where no inconvenience is experienced in the handling of large crowds of people.

In the operation of a large steam pump the water question in the basement of the Marion hotel and business block that is now in course of construction at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Twenty-fifth street, at a cost of $85,000, has been solved, and the engine pit is now thoroughly and strongly cemented. The use of the pump will not be needed longer than today. The contractor states that he encountered about three feet of water in the gravel bed underneath the level of the basement floor and it required considerable pumping before the engine pit could be dug and concrete for the basement walls of cement are progressing rapidly and, withal, splendid advancement is being made in all directions on the building.

The lathers and plasterers have in hand the building operations on the new Lyceum at Grant and Twenty-fifth street, and the same condition prevails at the Maule business block near Lincoln avenue on Twenty-fifth street. These structures will be ready for occupancy within the next thirty days, and the new dining room for the Central hotel, across the street north from the Maule building, will be in use within the next two weeks.

Some delay is being encountered in the completion of the $130,000 Dee Memorial hospital on account of the plumbing work in the building and in the perfecting of the heating plant. It is stated by the contractor that the hospital will not be ready for occupancy before November first. When completed this hospital will be among the best in the western country.

The Fred J. Kiesel company is planning the construction of a large warehouse on Twenty-fifth street, between Wall and Lincoln avenues that will cost over $10,000, and the Fred Melser business house and bakery, to cost $6,000, is rapidly being built on Grant avenue, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets. This will be a three story structure, the ground floor of which will be used for business purposes, the upper floors for rooming quarters and the rear of the place will be used as a bakery.

Former Mayor Alex Brewer is building an addition to his residence on Jefferson avenue, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets, that will cost $4,000.

AVIATOR HAS NARROW ESCAPE

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Harry S. Harkness, the aviator of Cleveland and member of a prominent family in that city, had a narrow escape today when the monoplane in which he was flying at the Aerodrome in Garden City, L. I., dived suddenly to the ground from a height of twenty-five feet. Harkness' machine was demolished, but he escaped injury. It has been known abroad for his feats in aviation and came to America to enter the elimination trials for the international meet next month.

FALLS IN VAT OF BOILING WATER

Shortly after noon yesterday an exceedingly painful accident, which has proven to be of a serious nature, occurred at the Kramer Canning company on Twenty-first street, when Frank Varney, an employee, lost his balance and fell into a vat of boiling water, scalding his right arm and the lower portion of his body from his waist down.

The physician attending the boy, who is but 16 years old, said last evening that he was in very bad shape but that he would recover from his burns, and would be none the worse for his frightful accident.

Young Varney was pulling a load of cans out of the vat when he toppled into the steaming water. The floor of the platform is said to have been slippery, the force he exerted in lifting the cans, preventing a firm foot hold.

This is not Varney's first accident. About five years ago this same boy, while driving a team down a hill south of Ogden, was thrown from his seat, when the horses became unmanageable on a bad stretch of road, and was hurled into the wheels of the wagon. He was crushed terribly. Both legs were broken—one having three compound fractures.

Mr. James Varney, the lad's father, undertook to enter suit against the city, claiming that the condition of the road was the direct cause of the accident, but the initial papers in the suit were not filed within the limit required by law, so that the suit for damages never was heard.

SPORTS NEGROES WIN THE FINAL GAME

Salt Lake, Sept. 16.—The Occidentals turned the tables on Wednesday and won from Ogden, when they pounded Tennant out of the box in the first two innings. This gave the negroes a lead that could not be overcome and they won the game, 7 to 2. Ward, who succeeded Tennant, pitched a brilliant game and allowed only four scattered hits in the six innings he pitched. Had he been in from the start the game would have been much closer.

Mooney, who was in the box for the Occidentals, was touched up frequently, but he kept the safe drivers well scattered and always was able to pitch himself out of a tight place.

Robinson started off for the Occidentals in the first with a long two-bagger. He reached third on Lane's single. Langford stole second and romped home when Burns doubled. Burns got to third on Plake's error and scored on a passed ball.

In the second inning, Langley opened up with a single and went out at second on Hawkins' grounder to Wessler. Hawkins stole second and scored on Lane's double. Langford walked and Lane stole third. Then Lane and Langford worked a pretty and successful double steal.

After the second inning, Ward went in, and for two innings the negroes went out one, two, three. In the fifth, Wessler missed Lane's fly. Lane stole second and scored on Langford's single. The other score of the Occidentals was secured in the sixth. Mooney singled and scored when Ward threw wild to first.

Ogden got its two runs in the fourth. Donovan singled and went in third on Bock's single. Langford threw over Lane's head and both runners scored.
